Boss to Coach One

Too often, traditional manager development programs are aligned with outdated, top-down management. Gallup's latest workplace research reveals that today's employees demand meaningful work, managers who care for them as people, ongoing communication, clear work expectations, and opportunities to learn and grow. They want a coach, not a boss.

Boss to Coach One is the first half of a revolutionary manager development experience that equips managers to exceed the expectations of the changing workplace. With a focus on strengths-based, engagement-focused and performance-oriented coaching, managers will be equipped to make employees, teams and organizations more productive and profitable.

Who Should Attend

Boss to Coach One is for managers who want to accelerate performance through powerful coaching, achieve measurable gains in key business outcomes and drive organic growth through human development.
