SIMPSON CONSTRUCTION CO.

BACKGROUND AND HISTORY

Simpson Construction Co. is a long-established firm, having engaged in general contracting work in Chicago and other parts of the country for more than one hundred years. We were established in Boston, Massachusetts, in 1869, and branched out to Chicago in 1884. The Chicago branch was first incorporated in Illinois in 1901.

The current management represents the fourth generation of the same family to head the firm continuously for the past 118 years.

The firm has a long history of constructing public works contracts in and around Chicago. Our experience has included schools, libraries, hospitals, and pumping stations.

We normally perform the rough and finish carpentry, surveying and demolition work with our own crews. We normally employ an average crew of ten men in the field year around, and maintain a full warehouse and shop at our Bellwood location. Our current staff includes individuals with an average of 20 years with our company, and a proven commitment to our goals of an honest and faithful delivery of the construction product.

We believe that the longevity of Simpson Construction Co. is largely due to the conservative and stable nature of the management, which, while always believing in steady progress toward greater challenges, has not sought to become large at the expense of personal control, and personal contact with the client. If you choose Simpson to manage your construction project, you will always be assured of dealing with people who are committed to seeing the project through, and devoting every ounce of effort to a job that is a long-term commitment.
