Professional Consulting Services for Advanced Metering Infrastructure

National Leader in Meter Technologies

Ken Moore of Baxter & Woodman is a national leader in meter technologies. He has helped over 20 communities in the Chicagoland area with water meter infrastructure, as well as major cities including New York, Detroit, and Los Angeles.

The City of Joliet has over 47,000 meters. Baxter & Woodman is helping the City administer a prioritized replacement program with Sensus technology improvements. The exhibit above shows a portion of the City's water meters (color coded by age) and the breadth of the project.

Baxter & Woodman is committed to helping enhance your community's metering infrastructure. Our experience in advanced metering infrastructure includes developing comprehensive Program Management, conducting evaluations of residential water meter system and annual meter replacement programs, and managing the process from vendor analysis to system start-up.

Focused on Efficient Operations

Our approach focuses on helping municipalities install the right technology to improve water revenues and operations. Baxter & Woodman applies a "one water" philosophy, which means we consider the municipality's entire water system and future operations and maintenance that may be impacted from a meter replacement program. We carefully evaluate changes to meter readings, data analysis, addressing alarms, and managing meter infrastructure when developing a meter replacement plan to help you improve operations.

Improved Customer Service Experience

Our advanced metering infrastructure services also consist of working with municipalities to select a water metering system that can improve the customer service experience. When evaluating various programs, we pay close attention to the customer interface and seek features that can identify:

- Monthly billings
- System alerts
- Tamper resistance
- Online usage reports
- Leak detection
- Water accountability

We also know how important it is to make tactical decisions, which is why our engineers develop decision matrices to make it as easy as possible to select a water metering program that meets your needs.

The Oak Forest Water System Performance Contract project is an innovative private/public partnership focusing on planning, delivering, and guaranteeing cost reductions for the City's water distribution system via reduced energy consumption and streamlined operations. Baxter & Woodman produced construction documents, and also performed construction and start-up services to deliver the project on time and within budget.

Baxter & Woodman joined Johnson Controls, who provided an Energy Performance Contract, which is an alternative financing mechanism designed to accelerate investment in cost-effective energy conservation measures. This project will pay for itself in seven years with the reduction in water loss, increase in water meter revenues, decrease in energy consumption, and optimized system operation. The project combines the best talents of Baxter & Woodman providing water system engineering operations and energy consumption expertise and incorporated them with the controls and instrumentation prowess of Johnson Controls, Inc.

The following specific improvements were identified and are being implemented:

- WaterGEMS Water Model and long-term water loss control strategies
- Complete water meter change-out
- · Systemwide water leakage testing and repair
- Pumping stations pump speed optimization and Master PLC upgrades
- Pumping modifications to reduce water hammer and limit main breaks
- Pump and operational control strategies including off-peak pumping
- VFD replacements at booster pumping stations
- Remote metering facilities
- New pressure zones
- Improved data management services and SCADA
- New pressure zone to reduce water pressure in areas with water main breaks and increase pressure in locations with low fire flows

Improved metering, level sensors, and SCADA were implemented at City facilities (including the elevated tank shown to the left) to improve the water accountability.

The Village of Schaumburg's water system, as with the water systems of most communities, was constructed over a series of decades through individual projects that addressed localized needs. This water system improvement project, as part of the performance contract, aims to consolidate the operation of the Village's utility infrastructure and provide improved functionality.

Baxter & Woodman produced construction documents, and also performed construction and start-up services to deliver the project on time and within budget.

The water system scope goal is to update instrumentation and control to effectively manage storage volumes for fewer water quality issues, minimize water loss, and optimize energy use. Baxter & Woodman teamed with Johnson Controls to provide a systematic evaluation of the various storage facilities, pump stations, and water network that will deliver:

- Improved water quality by providing a more consistent chlorine residual through automation of tank turnovers. Water system improvements will include instrumentation at each of the Village's storage sites to calculate the water age and automatically pump at off-peak hours to provide adequate tank turnovers.
- Repurposed operator resources by shifting operational resources from manual site checks to preventative and planned maintenance.
- Renewed aging infrastructure by delivering a number of mechanical improvements throughout pumping stations.
- Minimized water main breaks due to SCADA enhancements that will allow staff to manage system pressures in a better way.
- Improved emergency response time, reduced downtime of equipment, and supplied water.
- Reduced electricity expenses. The improvements will result in approximately $60,544 per year of electricity savings by reducing demand charges at several sites and reducing operational energy at Plum Grove and Odlum pump stations.
- Flexibility for maintenance.
- Reconcile the financial impact of water operations daily. Specifically, indicate and assign a value to water lost on a daily basis.

2021 Water Main Replacement Program

Construction Manager for the replacement and rehabilitation of approximately 32,549 lineal feet of 6- to 12-inch water main. The project also included updating the City's GIS database with as-built conditions.

Project Approach

The Village of Orland Park owns and maintains approximately 23,700 residential and commercial water meters (primarily Sensus) spanning in age from one to 25 years old. Approximately 19,824 water meters are equipped with Sensus SmartPoint, which are radio endpoints for remote meter reading.

Orland Park is seeking an independent, experienced consultant to advise and collaborate with the Village in managing the evaluation of the current metering and AMI system. Baxter & Woodman will confirm the Village selects an efficient, cost-effective, and beneficial process, starting with vendor analysis through program implementation. Our team will research and recommend a system that helps to improve departmental and operating efficiencies while enhancing the customer service experience.

Strategy for Success

Our team will focus on these three keys to success:

Enhancing the Customer Service Experience

Managing, Advising, and Communicating

Enhancing the Customer Service Experience

We will help the Village select a system that improves the customer interface with monthly billing, system alerts, tamper resistance, online usage reports, leak detection, and water accountability (optional add-on service). The Village will benefit from an engineer that makes customer service a top priority. Our project team will develop a decision matrix to help the Village make a final selection on the direction of the program, and customer service features will be heavily weighted.

Improving Water Accountability, Revenues, and Operations

The Village will benefit from our "one water" philosophy. Typical engineering firms come in and write meter bid specifications, but we value the entire water system and future operations and maintenance. This means we will think about the externalities that come from a meter replacement program and help the Village navigate those challenges.

BUILDING TRUST WITH HOMEOWNERS

Entering private homes can be challenging, but our team will write specifications that stress safety and communication so that customers are educated and ready to allow the approved contractor into their homes.

Improving water revenues and operations must be a priority for the selected engineer. Project Manager Ken Moore will confirm the right technology and system that will take Orland Park to the next level. Many Village departmental and operating efficiencies will be realized, and a higher level of customer service will be provided with an AMI system due to the possibility of leak detection being incorporated and having real-time water usage available to customers. Meter reading, data analysis, addressing alarms, and managing meter infrastructure will change after this project, making it crucial to have an engineer who understands the whole process.

Managing, Advising, and Communicating

The Village will gain value from our meter management and communication skills. Village staff will know exactly where the project, budget, and schedule is at each step of the way. Orland Park will know what we completed last week, what we are working on currently, and what is planned for the coming weeks. The Village will need to make many tough decisions, but we will educate, advise, and support you at each turn.

QA/QC Plan

Each Baxter & Woodman department has a Quality Assurance/Quality Control (QA/QC) Plan that incorporates peer reviews and constructability reviews conducted by senior engineers, certified operators, and construction managers at project milestones. These reviews aid in design accuracy, cost estimation, and scheduling. Our team collaborates to confirm quality is an ongoing focus and a superior product is achieved.

At the Draft stage, the comprehensive bid package and specifications will be reviewed to identify potential constructability and operations concerns. Preliminary cost estimates are prepared to allow for design changes needed to meet your budget. Documents will be reviewed for completion again at 60% and 100% complete with the goals of minimizing Change Orders and confirming that your requests have been addressed.

QA/QC comments are received from reviewers at each critical project milestone and are documented in tabular format. Responses addressing these comments are required to be provided on the same form in order to readily identify concerns and their proposed resolutions.

Project documents are submitted to you only after QA/QC reviews are complete and approved by both the Project Manager and the Department Manager. As a commitment to our quality procedures, these QA/QC comments and resolution documents are available for your review upon request.

The benefits of our effective QA/QC procedures are most evidenced by tightly grouped bids, reduced Change Orders, and adherence to schedules and budgets. We routinely receive compliments from construction contractors and material suppliers regarding the thoroughness of our construction contract plans, enabling them to provide more accurate bids with minimal cushion for unknown risks.

Project Management

Efficient project management will deliver a project that is completed on time and under budget. The key to achieving this goal is organization and effective communication. One tool that we will utilize to manage the project is project status reports. Detailed reports will be emailed on a monthly basis to report progress and milestones. The "at-a-glance" format is ideal for inclusion in the Village's Board packet to keep the Trustees and staff up-to-date.
